About SembRamky Environmental Management Pvt Ltd...

SembRamky Environmental Management Pvt. Ltd., registered under the Companies Act, with the primary objective being the Bio-Medical Waste Management service provider. SembRamky

Environmental Management Pvt Ltd is a joint venture company between SembCorp Environmental Management, Singapore and Ramky Group of Hyderabad, India. SembCorp Environmental Management is the leading Environmental Solutions provider in Singapore and Ramky is the India's largest waste management service provider focused in the areas of Bio-Medical Waste, Municipal Waste and Industrial Hazardous Waste Management.

SembRamky Environmental Management Pvt Ltd (SembRamky), has highly trained and experienced professionals in field of management and handling of the Bio-Medical Wastes. The company established the first-of-its-kind common Bio-Medical Waste Management facility in Hyderabad in 2000. The group today operates 9 bio-medical waste facilities all over India.

SembRamky's vision has always been to be the conscious & effective contributor in the field of waste management and has envisioned the concept of common bio-medical waste treatment facility as early as 1995. Owing to the market realities, the company has kept its operations limited to Hyderabad and has taken up the job of creating awareness among the health care establishments on the need for medical waste management. SembRamky identified a site for treatment and disposal of wastes as early as March

1997 from APPCB, Hyderabad and this was the first ever license to operate a common bio-medical waste treatment facility in the country. The company then continued the waste audits, survey and awareness programs until late 1999 and has established the facility in Jan 2000 and commenced commercial operations.

The company believes in state-of-the-art technologies for management of Bio-Medical Wastes and introduced the practice of incineration and autoclaving of the wastes followed by shredding & landfilling. Today the same concept is prevalent all over the country where all the common Bio-Medical facilities are operated on the same Technology & Concept. The facilities comprise in general of an incinerator, autoclave, shredder, landfill site, containerized transport vehicles and supporting infrastructure for effective management of bio-medical wastes without any impact to the human health and/or the environment. The company offers high quality un-interrupted services at competitive prices.

PLANT OPERATION:

The facility is equipped with a diesel fired Incinerator (Make- Global Incinerators) having a capacity of 250 Kgs every hour along with 3 autoclaves having different capacities 800 LITRES (Make- Machine Fabrik), 430 LITRES (Make-Natsteel Equipment Pvt. Ltd.), 120 LITRES (Make-Osworld) and a shredder able to shred on an average of 40 Kgs every hour.

INCINERATOR

AUTOCLAVES

PROCESS DETAILS:

Process 1: Incineration:

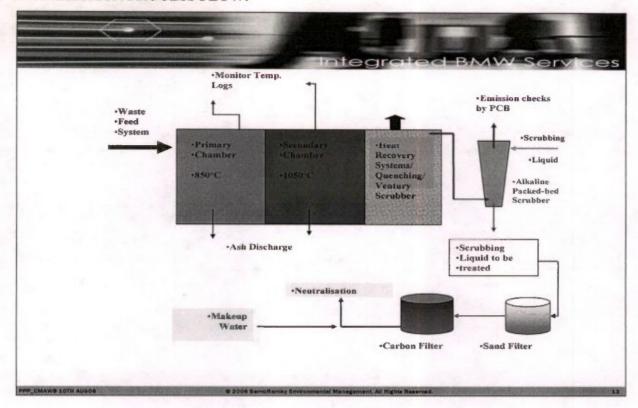

The installed incinerator has two chambers. Primary Chamber is designed to burn the Bio-Medical Wastes. at $800 \pm 50^{\circ}$ C. Secondary Chamber is designed to burn the flue gas of primary chamber at $1050 \pm 50^{\circ}$ C for complete destruction of harmful reagents and organic & inorganic toxins including dioxins and furans.

The incinerator is designed to destroy waste @ 250 kgs/ hr. Normal warm-up time under cold start conditions is around one hour. Waste is charged into the incinerator from a platform at the end of conveyor belt provided in front of the incinerator. The incinerator has oil fired burners. The incinerator is designed for operation under excess air conditions. Combustion under excess air conditions ensures complete destruction and produces smokeless flue gases. For complete and fast destruction, the incinerator is pre-fired and waste is charged into the incinerator only after the desired temperatures are attained in both the chambers. The incinerator operation is continuously monitored thru sequence controllers, span meters and data recorders, which map the primary & secondary chamber temperatures.

The incinerator is always maintained under a negative draft. This prevents the escape of hot gases when the incinerator is being charged.

INCINERATION PROCESS FLOW:

PROCESS DETAILS:

Process 2: Autoclaving:

All glass, plastic, & rubber wastes are autoclaved. The autoclaving is done through 3 nos. autoclaves having 800 liters, 430 liters & 180 liters capacity respectively. The 2 large autoclaves have an operating temperature of 135° C and a working pressure of 2.2 kg/cm2 and 1 small autoclave have an operating temperature of 121° C and a working pressure of 1.2 kg/cm2. The autoclaves are provided with a microprocessor based interface and a printer for controlling and monitoring the sterilization cycle.

Waste requiring autoclave sterilization are charged into the autoclave on a batch basis. Wastes are subjected to a temperature of not less than 135°C and a pressure of 2.2 kg/cm2 and a residence time of minimum 30 minutes. Autoclaved wastes are then shredded.

The above mentioned processes are operated in strict compliance to Bio-Medical Waste (Management & Handling Rules 2000) and guidelines and directives issued from CPCB & WBPCB time to time.

POLLUTION CONTROL EQUIPMENTS:

The facility employs state of art pollution control equipments.

Control of Incinerator stack Emissions: Once the flue gas emerges from the secondary chamber, the same is passed thru Wet Ventury and Alkaline Scrubber.

Treatment of Waste water and Recirculation: The alkaline water generating from the Ventury and Scrubber bottom tanks, are treated in the Effluent Treatment plant which consists of equalization tanks, settling chambers and passed through Sand Filter & Activated Carbon Filter for final treatment. The same after alkali dosing is pumped back into the circuit once again.

This drastically reduces the consumption of water and "Zero Discharge Concept" is applied here as no process water is discharged.

Disposal of Treated BMW: In compliance with the conditions laid down in Authorisation granted by WBPCB, the Incinerator Ash is sent for disposal to the Common Hazardous Waste Storage, Treatment and Disposal facility (TSDF) set up at Haldia, Purba Medinipur, 120 Kms from Kolkata.

MONITORING & MEASUREMENTS:

SembRamky Howrah unit continuously measures its various operational capabilities & parameters as per requirement of the BMW Rules 2000 and CPCB, WBPCB directives and guidelines and additionally as per organizational requirements.

Go j Interio introduces a new concept in Tubular Chairs:

Multipurpose Chairs which find application in offices, conference halls, seminar rooms, marriage halls, etc. With upholstered seats and backrests, these chairs are more comfortable, better looking and great value for money.

In addition, there are a range of features like:

- . A wide variety of fabrics to choose from. For large requirements, the chairs can be upholstered in the fabric of your choice
- A choice of three models- CH 1007 and CH 1004 have a cantilevered frame that is reinforced at the bends to give a 'springback effect' and provide extra strength. CH 1018 is a great space saver as it can be stacked with ease.
- All steel components are pre-treated with spray phosphating, powder coated and oven baked. The pre-treatment and powder coating process is automated and gives a scratch-resistant, long-lasting finish. The components can withstand a salt-spray test of over 1,000 hours indicating that the surface can withstand corrosion caused by salty and humid air.
- · Scratch hardness is tested as per BS standards. Impact and paint adhesion is tested as per DIN standards.
- · The colour of the understructure can be customized for large orders (at a nominal extra cost).

About Acer Products & Services Support & Downloads Global Operations

Restricted Chemical Substances Management

In reaction to progressively stricter international environmental protection restrictions on the use of chemical products and in an attempt to enhance controls in the use of various chemicals in the manufacturing of products, especially those deemed as hazardous, Acer is offering systematic management controls to ensure each supplier is able to meet requirements. Acer is strongly committed to the protection of human health and the conservation of the environment. Hence, Acer upholds a cautious attitude regarding the use of chemical substances in its products, As to uphold the spirit of the precautionary principle, we abide by all regulatory standards concerning particular chemical substances and demand our suppliers to follow the "Guidance of Restricted Substances in Products" established by Acer on application on the limited or gradually banned hazardous chemical substances.

Acer defines a "hazardous chemical substance" as one that is persistent, bio-accumulative, toxic, carcinogenic, or mutagenic, reproduces toxicity or causes environmental hormone disruption.

Precautionary Principle

We adopt the principle of early prevention, assessing all potential hazards and chemical substances that may impact the environment.

- Acer strictly forbids continued use of substances that have been confirmed by authorized appraisal agencies to cause irreversible damage to the ecosystem or human health.
- If current scientific technology is unable to confirm certain substances to cause irreversible effects, Acer proactively assesses whether it should continue using such substances.
- If there is a suitable and safe substitute substance available, Acer will opt to use the substitute. Before such a suitable and safe material is available, Acer will actively strive to research and develop suitable and safe substitutes
- In the case of a dispute, Acer takes responsibility by proactively gathering and providing related proof

Response to the European Union RoHS Directive

Since the European Union's (EU) promulgation of the RoHS Directive, Acer has established a Global Environmental Safety Team to focus on related concerns. The primary tasks of this organization are to stay abreast of related regulations and information in each EU nation, and to establish an Environmental Safety Team at Acer's Taiwan headquarters. This team is responsible for providing guidance, inventorying raw materials used in manufacture, switching to alternative materials, and verifying their effectiveness for each product line and each supplier of principal components. After a year of devoted efforts, on 1 July 2006 all of Acer's products have been RoHS compliant.

Supply Chain Management

Acer's management of suppliers' use of hazardous chemical substances can essentially be divided into three systems: Environmental Standard Requirements, Qualified Product Assurance (QPA) and Compliance Assurance System (CAS). This dual stage management framework guarantees product quality and ensures the restricted use or elimination of hazardous chemical substances.

Environmental Standard Requirements

Acer environmental standard requirements include: Eco-product requirements, Guidance of Restricted Substances in Products and a Green BOM list. Acer provides these three documents to suppliers and requests compliance with related standards.

Eco Product Requirement

All of Acer's suppliers should meet the requirements put forward by Acer. The requirement covers aspects such as energy saving, easy recycling, low toxicity, battery usage, materials labeling, and packaging materials. Additionally, suppliers must provide Acer with related product environmental data, which will be regularly compiled and issued by Acer.

Guidance of Restricted Substances in Products in order to better comply with stricter international environmental regulations regarding the use of chemical products and to more conscientiously control the use of chemical materials in the manufacture of company products, Acer compiled a new "Guidance of Restricted Substances in Products" at the end

mhtml:file://C:\Documents and Settings\Administrator\Desktop\Acer\RoHS compliance.mht

of 2000. The guidance divides chemical materials into three categories: prohibited materials, current restricted materials and future restricted materials. Future restricted materials are further divided into two more categories: those having an established schedule for restricted use and those currently under evaluation for restricted use. Materials under evaluation for future restricted use are handled based on practition principles. They are placed on a future restricted material list for review from which a schedule is then drawn up for phasing out their use. The execution of the schedule then proceeds with verification, technological analysis and substitute material testing according to the HSF plan. Testing is conducted to determine whether any substitute technology will influence the quality, safety and reliability of finished products as well as to determine any possible adverse affects on human health or the environment.

1. Having an established schedule for restricted use: BFRs, PVC, Phthalates.

2. Currently under evaluation for restricted use: Antimony, Arsenic, Beryllium, Bismuth, Selenium.

Green BOM

All suppliers are expected to conduct product chemical material use inspections based on this model. The scope of these inspections include article 5.1 of the guidance concerning 'prohibited materials' and article 5.2 concerning 'currently restricted materials.' The results of the inspections should be recorded on the Green BOM, showing the ratio of hazardous chemical material contained in each part before submitting the list to Acer. Submitting the Green BOM list is a preliminary step to determine whether suppliers are carrying out the stipulations in the "Guidance of Restricted Substances in Products."

Qualified Product Assurance (QPA)

It is to ensure that primary component suppliers have the capacity to provide equivalent quality products based on Acer's new environmental protection standards. Currently, all of Acer's suppliers and major component suppliers have completed this first phase of assurance and are already supplying products that comply with Acer's environmental protection standards.

Compliance Assurance System (CAS)

After implementing the product Qualified Product Assurance (QPA) phase, Acer then focuses on the CAS of its suppliers, because we believe that suppliers can effectively minimize risks with a quality management system. There are two levels in this managerial approach:

· Product Testing and Sampling

Each supplier must submit an appropriate product test report in order to demonstrate compliance with the "Guidance of Restricted Substances in Products." Additionally, we carry out sampling test plan on any dubious product in order to ensure Acer products adhere to our pledge to meet environmental protection standards.

Onsite Audits

The scope of these audits includes both system and manufacturing. System audits comprise execution conditions and results. Our suppliers' management systems and inspection of the manufacturing processes continuously ensure that production complies with Acer's environmental protection standards quantity and quality requirements. Acer has a regular inspection plan with suppliers in order to enhance evaluations for the suitability of chemical component use in products. This plan seeks to weed out any chemical components that do not meet standards listed in the Guidance of Restricted Substances in Products or any future environmentally problematic materials. Acer hopes that this plan will help reduce the volume of chemically hazardous materials being used in the future.

Hazardous Substance Free Plan (HSF Plan)

Acer's prevention principles behave us to assess any potentially hazardous or chemical substance that may have a negative impact on the environment. Thus, Acer is committed to eliminating the use of hazardous chemical substances listed in OSPAR Plus. At the present stage, PVC and BFRs are priority hazardous chemical substances chosen for gradual elimination. Acer pledges to prohibit PVC and BFRs from use in all new Acer products by 2009. For a detailed description of this plan, please click here to see our HSF Plan.

Based on Acer's preventive principles, aside from currently banned or limited materials, there are still many chemical substances in use whose affects on the environment are still unknown. Along these lines, Acer will continue to adhere to international controls on use of hazardous chemical substances. These include agreements such as the fifteen-nation Oslo-Paris Commission (OSPAR), the Stockholm Convention on Persistent Organic Pollutants (POPs), the European Union Registration, Evaluation and Authorization of Chemicals (REACH), the United States Environmental Protection Agency's Electronic Product Environmental Assessment Tool (EPEAT) and the Joint Industry Guide (JIG).

Moreover, Acer will continue to contact with major environmental groups that are concerned about the use of hazardous chemical substances in business. These include Greenpeace, the U.S. Silicon Valley Toxics Coalition (SVTC) as well as other such organizations and businesses that deal with the handling of discarded high-tech information products. These organizations offer the latest information on hazardous chemicals that can help Acer ascertain what substances should have restricted use in the future. The screening principles Acer will adhere to in restricting the use of chemical substances include:

- Substances shown to aversely affect the environment, user health or safety
- Substances possibly requiring hazardous waste management measures
- Substances for which the process of handling its discarded products has a severely negative affect on the environment
- Substances confirmed to have been used in an information technology product

Initial selection of substances for restricted use in the future will be based on the following evaluation points:

- Technical pasibility
 The affect the restricted use or banned substance has on product quality and safety
- Any negative affect substitute technology would have on the environment

Moreover, in coordination with suppliers, Acer will conduct tests on substitute materials and when it is determined that any substitute technology will neither affect product quality, safety, reliability nor harm user health or increase environmental burden, then a clear timetable will be established for the phasing out restricted use or banned substances. Acer is committed to working with all involved in progressively urging suppliers to implement the use of more environmentally-friendly substitute technologies in products so as to reach the objective of phasing out restricted use and banned substances.

In the present stage, Acer has already adopted a limited timetable for future limited use substances such as brominated flame retardants (BRFs), polyvinal chloride (PVC) and phthalates. In accordance with Greenpeace suggestions, we are also adopting screening principles and focal assessments in researching and testing substitute substances with suppliers. We are also setting clear timetables to phase out restricted use and banned substances. Substances currently under assessment for future restricted use include antimony, arsenic, beryllium, bismuth and selenium. As these substances adhere to the above-mentioned screening principles, we will follow up by including them on the list of items requiring further evaluation to determine the feasibility of restricting or banning their use.

HP recommends that the number of printed pages per month be within the stated range for optimum device performance, based on factors including supplies replacement intervals and device life over an extended warranty period.

Outly cycle is defined as the maximum number of pages per month of imaged output. This value provides a comparison of product robustness in relation to other HP Loserjet or HP Color Loserjet devices, and enables appropriate deployment of printers and MFPs to satisfy the demands of connected individuals or groups.

Average contridge yield 1,000 standard pages. HP CB436A replacement print contridge yields approximately 2,000 pages (Average contridge yield 2,000 standard pages. Declared yield values in accordance with ISO/IEC 19752). For page yields and other contridge options, see www.hp.com/pagevoid.

Measured per ISO 7779 and declared per ISO 9296; values subject to change. For current information, see www.hp.com/pagevoid.
