Sub: Seeking financial assistance to organize science awareness programs

Respected Sir,

On occasion of 125th birth anniversary of the nature scientist Gopalchandra Bhattacharya, we are organizing various science awareness and popularization programs throughout the year - from 1st August 2019 to 1st August 2020 - to promote and preserve the life and works of this extraordinary scientist.

A brief biography of Gopalchandra Bhattacharya, Proposed Programs Schedule along with budget and history about our organization are attached for your kind perusal.

Many of Gopalchandra's researches were associated to biodiversity and demand further exploration with respect to rapid urbanization. Two such researches are:

- In 1936 he had cautioned that depletion of Rana tigrana - species of tadpoles fed on mosquito larva - would foster mosquito related diseases. Extinction of Rana tigrana also affects biodiversity.
- Nalso ants (Oecophellya smaragdina) fed on aphides of citrus fruit trees and this characteristic of ants makes it suitable to consider as a potential bio pesticide. Nowadays worldwide researchers are raving about it. It also forms ecological services among tree, aphides and ants.

To successfully implement the programs, we earnestly seeking financial aid from you in the form of grant, advertisements and or publicity of Urban Development & Municipal Affairs Department.

To pay tribute to Gopalchandra Bhattacharya, we also request you to install a statue of him in any theme park or garden in Kolkata, Salt Lake or New Town.

Thanking you,
Yours sincerely

BRIEF BIOGRAPHY OF NATURE SCIENTIST GOPALCHANDRA BHATTACHARYA:

Born in a poor Bengali Brahmin family at Lonesing, a small village, in Faridpur district, erstwhile East Bengal (under British rule) now Bangladesh, on the 1st of August 1895, Gopalchandra Bhattacharya, was an extraordinary nature scientist par excellence without any formal higher education – he was a matriculate only, though later Calcutta University conferred upon him honorary D.Sc. And In 2005, the Government of West Bengal instituted an award for science popularization in his name, the Gopal Chandra Bhattacharya Smriti

Puraskar.

He was a botanist turned entomologist and one of the blessed associates of Sir Jagadish Chandra Bose who did pioneering research on ETHOLOGY (animal behaviour) and published 22 research papers from Bose Institute; where he had worked from 1921 to 1971. Those papers were published in peer reviewed journals. It is considered that, with his research works, study of modern ethology has begun in India – unfortunately he was not recognised for his contributions to science. Whereas, scientists abroad, who had started studying modern ethology around 1930s went on to become Noble Laureate, as recognition of their research works.

Apart from working with Sir JC Bose, he had also worked with Acharya Satyendranath Bose in the mission to popularize science in Bengali and was editor of the only science magazine 'Jnan O Bijan' (Knowledge and Science) for around 30 years and made it immensely popular. He was an accomplished writer too and had written more than 800 scholastic science articles in lucid language, that were appreciated by many. He made science so attractive that his books are still sought after.

He died on 8th April 1981 at his residence 41 Harish Neogi Road, Calcutta – 700067.

AWARDS AND ACCOLADES:

1951: Invitation from International Union, Paris, for the study of social insects, to head the Indian chapter of the organisation.

1968: Ananda Puraskar

1974: Acharya Satyendranath Basu Memorial Plaque

1974: Felicitation by Basu Bigyan Mandir

1975: Rabindra Puraskar

1979: Recipient of Jubilee Medal on Diamond Jubilee celebration of Basu Bigyan Mandir.

1981: Recipient of Honorary D.Sc Degree by Calcutta University.

2005: The Government of West Bengal instituted an award for science popularization in his name, Gopal Chandra Bhattacharya Smriti Puraskar.

ABOUT US (GCBPPS):

In 1974, with the blessings of the scientist Gopal Chandra Bhattacharya; Mihir Kumar Bhattacharya, the youngest son of the scientist had established 'Gopal Chandra Bhattacharjee Bigyan Prasas Samiti'. The objective was to create science awareness and popularization of science by introducing the life and works of GCB to the larger section of the society – with priority to secondary school students. Samiti had started its humble journey from the residence of the great scientist.

There was no capital except indomitable spirit of Mihir and his admirers. For science awareness the founders set the following activities to achieve the goal.

- To arrange seminars on various scientific topics
- To organize science exhibitions at schools on the models of 'Kore Dakho' (Do it by yourself) – the scientist's famous book
- To encourage and promote new science writers
- To involve various institutions, organizations, clubs and or individuals who follow similar principles and practice science activities. Samiti provided supports to them by pooling its resources.
- Publishing of books – we have taken a project to publish an Omnibus during the celebration of his 125th birth anniversary
- To conduct program like nature camps

During last forty-five years, we held many seminars, quiz competition, essay competitions, debate competitions etc. either solely or in collaboration with other organizations or clubs. We had published few authentic books too. All by ourselves without any Govt aids. Being an unregistered organization, we were not qualified for any Govt aids. Our organization got registered in 2014 and that drawback was removed.

During this journey, Honourable Ministers, Mayors, Academicians, Scientists, Novelists, Journalists, Legislatures took part in our various programs and enriched us.

Honourable Governor of West Bengal Sri Raghunath Reddy inaugurated the 100th birth anniversary ceremony of the scientist.

This year being the 125th birth anniversary of the scientist, for one year – from 1st August 2019 to 1st August 2020, we are paying tribute to Gopalchandra Bhattacharya, by organizing various programs like, seminars, workshop, exhibition, book publishing etc.

Please refer attached 2019-2020 programs schedule for more details.

We have successfully concluded two programs in 2019:

- A seminar was organized as part of the inaugural ceremony in collaboration with Vigyan Prasas (Deptt of Science and Technology, Govt. of India) and Bangiya Bijan Parishad on 1st August 2019.
- And a nature camp was organized with young students at Bagnan, in the district of Howrah - solely by us.

Time to time Newspapers had widely covered our programs with due importance as well as published featured articles on him.

After the death of the founder Mihir Kumar Bhattacharya, his daughter Smt. Mala Chakraborty Bhattacharya, took charge of the organization and carrying out the mission.
